

- 1) Incomplete. I planned on adding a feature that would add a new member and a feature that would remove a member
- 2) My project is incomplete while I was working on the main method. The first problem I encountered was not being able to print out my array lists. Then the other problem I encountered was the `getBookStock()` method has a red line under it when I try to run it and said cannot find symbol. This was when I decided to stop working on it as if I work on it further without being able to do these things might cause more problems.
- 3) I think the easy parts were creating all the other classes besides the Bookstore class and the Main class. I still have a lot to add to both of these classes because my project is incomplete. Some things that helped me get over the difficulties of this project was the FastFoodKitchen Lab was very useful and I tried to mirror that lab into this project as much as I could.
- 4) This project definitely helped my knowledge with classes, constructors, and methods.
